Humatica advises HVD Partners on their acquisition of Sampsistemi S.r.l.

Humatica, the leading private equity specialist advisor for portfolio company organisational effectiveness, has advised HVD Partners on its acquisition of Sampsistemi S.r.I (SAMP).

Founded in 1936 as Societá Anonima Meccanica di Precisione, SAMP supplies precision machines, spare parts and services to leading wire and cable manufacturers around the globe from locations in Italy, China, Brazil and the United States. Consistent with its long history of superior engineering and Italian craftsmanship, the company designs and manufactures the most innovative and high-performance machines in the industry.

Humatica will assist HVD with the revitalization of the company's international operations and brand in the US, China and Brazil from its headquarters in Bentivoglio, Italy.

Valentina Pozzobon, Humatica Director, commented:

"We were pleased to support HVD Partners once again with this exciting acquisition and look forward to supporting the Samsistemi management to master the next inflection point in the company's growth."

Jouni Heinonen, HVD Managing Partner, added:

"Sampsistemi has an excellent reputation in the industry. We are pleased to partner with the management and Humatica to write the next chapter of value growth in their 85 year legacy."

The Humatica team was led by Valentina Pozzobon, Director.
